Lesson 0-1 · Welcome: The WOW! Team

The Mystery Letter

Mystery Welcome

👥 Salma (12, from Ibri) and the WOW! Team

On the first day of Grade 7, Salma found a letter in her English book. It was blue and yellow, and on the front it said: "World of Wonder! Magazine. We want to hear from you!"

"Who sent this?" she asked her friend Huda. Huda shook her head. "I've no idea. Let's find out!"

Inside the letter there was a page called "About us". It had four short profiles. A profile is a short text about a person.

The four profiles

Salma read them aloud.

Majid is twelve. He wears an Omani hat and a dishdasha. He loves camping and football. He learned about first aid at school, so he always takes a first-aid kit when he goes camping.

Bayan is twelve. She loves animals and camping.

Emily loves reading. She likes wearing comfortable casual clothes.

Frank is thirteen. He loves travelling and food from different countries.

"So this is the WOW! Team," said Huda. "Majid, Bayan, Frank and Emily. They write a magazine!"

The magazine

The second page showed the magazine. Salma counted the parts. "It has four parts: Welcome, Book Club, Culture and Over to you!"

"What's Over to you?" asked Huda.

"It's for readers like us. Readers send comments and photos to the magazine." A comment is what you write about a topic. A topic is the subject of a text.

Under the title, the team wrote: "Last year we wrote about happy places, different clothes and staying safe outdoors."

> 💡 The WOW! Magazine has four parts: Welcome, Book Club, Culture and Over to you! Readers send comments and photos.

Clue number one

At the bottom of the letter there was a question: "Who are YOU? Tell us about yourself!"

Huda started writing. "I have twelve years..."

"Stop!" laughed Salma. "In English we don't say that. We say: I'm twelve years old."

"Oh! OK. I'm twelve years old. I am interesting in animals."

"Almost! Not interesting. We say: I'm interested in animals. Interesting is for things, like an interesting book."

Writing to the team

The girls sat under the big tree in the school yard and wrote together.

> What do you like doing? asked Salma.

> I like reading. I'm interested in stories because they take me to new places. And you?

> I love camping, but I don't like insects!

"Good," said Salma. "We can join our ideas with and and but."

Then Huda wrote a sentence about her friend: "Salma has long brown hair and she loves reading."

"And I can use a special sentence," said Salma. "I've been camping twice. It tells about my experience."

The answer

The next morning, the English teacher, Ms Amal, smiled at the girls. "Did you find a letter in your book?"

"Yes! Was it from you?"

"It was from the WOW! Team. This year we are going to read their magazine together. But first, a quick quiz." She asked: "Who loves travelling and food from different countries?"

"Frank!" said Huda.

"Who learned about first aid at school?"

"Majid!" said Salma. "Always read the question first, then look for the name in the text."

Ms Amal clapped. "Great. Welcome to Grade 7. The World of Wonder is waiting for you!"

Who Is Missing from the Show?

Mystery Unit 1: Entertainment

👥 The WOW! Team getting ready for the WOW! Talent Show

It was the day of the WOW! Talent Show. The school hall was full of chairs, lights and cameras. Emily held a list. "OK, team. Every show needs many jobs. Some people work on a stage, and some people work behind the scenes. Let's check everyone is here!"

On the stage

"First, the presenter," said Emily. "That's me! A presenter talks to the audience and introduces the show. I'm going to be the presenter because I'm good at talking."

Then a funny person ran in. He had an orange wig, a red nose and very big shoes.

"Ha! That's Frank," laughed Bayan. "He's our clown!"

Frank bowed. "I'm also the puppeteer. A puppeteer makes puppets move." He showed a small camel puppet.

"Careful," said Majid. "The puppet is the toy. The puppeteer is the person!"

Next there was a boy from Grade 8, Saif. He was a comedian. "A comedian tells jokes and makes people laugh," he said, and he told a joke. Everyone laughed.

"And Huda is a performer," said Emily. "A performer acts or does a show."

Behind the scenes

"Now, behind the scenes," said Emily.

Bayan held up a box of colourful clothes. "I'm the costume designer. I design and make costumes for the performers."

Majid lifted a big camera. "I'm the camera operator. I film the show. I will video everything." He spelled it on the board: o-p-e-r-a-t-o-r. "Not operater!"

Next to him sat Mr Hamed with headphones. "I'm the sound editor. I work with the sound of a film or a show, so everyone can hear the voices clearly."

A girl was drawing on a tablet. "I'm Reem, the animator. I draw pictures that move, like cartoons. My cartoon will play at the start."

"And Laila is the writer," said Emily. "A writer writes stories and plays. She wrote our play."

Last, Aisha, the make-up artist, was putting some colour on Frank's cheeks to make him look like a clown.

> 💡 On a stage: presenter, comedian, clown, puppeteer, performer. Behind the scenes: writer, costume designer, sound editor, camera operator, animator, make-up artist.

The missing person

Emily looked at her list. "Wait! One person is missing. Who will do the dangerous jump with the bike?"

Everyone was quiet. Then the door opened. A tall man came in with a helmet. "Sorry I'm late! I'm Mr Nasser, the stunt performer."

"What does a stunt performer do?" asked a small boy.

"I do dangerous actions, like jumping with a motorbike. Today I'll do a small jump with a bike. I must be very fit, I wear a helmet, and I practise a lot to stay safe."

"So which jobs need people to be very fit?" asked Bayan.

"The stunt performer and the performer!" said Emily.

The show begins

The lights went down. Emily walked onto the stage. "Good evening, everyone, and welcome to the WOW! Talent Show!"

Later that night, the team wrote a blog post. Frank read it with his clown nose still on: "Job words often end in -er, -or or -ist: writer, operator, artist. And remember the stress: CO-me-di-an, pre-SEN-ter!"

"Good," laughed Majid. "Now take off that nose!"

The Clown Costume That Got Small

Funny story Unit 1: Entertainment

👥 Frank and Majid backstage before the show

Backstage, Frank was trying to put on his clown costume. He pulled and pulled. "Majid, help! My costume is too small!"

Majid laughed. "How long have you had that costume?"

"I have had it for a long time," said Frank. "My grandmother made it. I have had it since I was nine."

"That's the problem! You have grown, and your costume hasn't!"

Since and for

Frank finally closed the buttons. He looked like a very tight orange balloon. "OK, it's a bit small now, but it's fine. I've been ready since lunchtime!"

"You've been a puppeteer for a long time too, right?"

"Yes, I've been a puppeteer since I was eight."

Majid took a pen and drew a line on the wall paper. "Look, this is easy. We use the present perfect for something that started in the past and continues now. For is a period of time. You can count it: for ten years, for two days, for a week. Since is a point in time, the start: since he was eight, since lunchtime, since 6 o'clock, since April."

💡 For + period (for ten years, for a week). Since + point in time (since 2019, since Monday). Present perfect = have / has + past participle.

Majid's uncle

"Talking about clowns," said Frank, "is your uncle coming tonight?"

"Yes! My uncle has been a comedian for ten years. He's very funny."

"That's cool. Do you watch his show often?"

"No. I haven't seen his show since I was five. He works in another city."

"Why is he coming tonight, then?"

Majid smiled. "I've no idea! Maybe he wants to see a clown in a tiny costume."

The joke

Frank tried a joke: "Why did the camel bring a pillow to the desert?"

"Why?"

"Because it wanted to sleep on the dunes... no, wait... on the sand-wich!"

Majid looked at him. Then he slowly laughed. "Oh... sand-wich. I get it."

"You get it? So it's a good joke?"

"It's a... long joke," said Majid.

Fixing mistakes

Emily came in with her notebook. "Boys, I'm writing the programme. Can you check my sentences?"

She read: "Frank have been a puppeteer since he was eight."

"Wrong!" said Frank. "He has been. I, you, we, they have. He, she, it has."

She read: "Majid's uncle has been a comedian since ten years."

"No," said Majid. "Ten years is a period. We can count it. For ten years."

She read: "Bayan lives in Muscat since 2019."

"Present perfect!" they both said. "Bayan has lived in Muscat since 2019."

Emily laughed. "OK, OK! Ask yourself: Can I count it? Then for. Is it a start time? Then since."

Show time

The lights went on. Frank walked onto the stage in his tight costume, and the audience laughed before he said anything. In the front row, Majid's uncle laughed the loudest.

After the show, he said, "I've been a comedian for ten years, Frank, but that costume is the funniest thing I've seen since I was a boy!"

My Muscat Diary

Diary Unit 1: Entertainment

👥 Nour, a girl from Khasab, writes a diary during a family trip to Muscat

29th December

Today we flew from Khasab to Muscat! I was so excited. My little brother Ali and my sister Mona looked out of the window all the time. This is my new diary. A diary tells about my days. I write the date at the beginning, and I use I, my and we.

Tonight we aren't going out. We are all tired. But tomorrow we're visiting Al-Qurum park!

30th December

In the morning we went to Al-Qurum park. Then we visited an art gallery. There were beautiful paintings of the sea and the mountains. Ali touched a painting and a guard looked at him. I was so embarrassed!

Dad showed us a list of places of entertainment in Muscat. There is a soft play centre for small children, a science museum, a 3D cinema, a bowling alley and even an ice rink! An ice rink in a hot country! Mona wants to try it.

We're going to the aquarium tomorrow morning.

31st December

The aquarium was amazing. An aquarium is a place with sea animals. We saw fish, turtles and two sharks. Mona hid behind me!

In the afternoon we visited the National Museum. There was a part about the sky, and we learned about the planets. I want to visit a planetarium one day. A planetarium shows stars and planets on a big round ceiling.

I wrote a note so I don't forget:

> 💡 Planetarium = stars and planets. Aquarium = sea animals.

1st January

Today we watched a show in a big theatre. It was beautiful, with lights and costumes. When we came back in the taxi, Ali and Mona fell asleep. Dad carried them to the hotel!

Mom asked me, "What are your plans?" I made a list:

> We're visiting the science museum tomorrow.
> I'm meeting my cousin Fatma on Saturday.
> We're flying home on Wednesday.

Dad read it and said, "Good! These are future arrangements. We have already decided them."

2nd January

At breakfast, Ali said, "We visit the theme park tomorrow!"

"Not quite," I said. "We already decided it, so we say: We're visiting the theme park tomorrow." Then he said, "I going to the safari park!" I helped him again: "I'm going to the safari park."

Mom laughed. "Nour is a teacher now!"

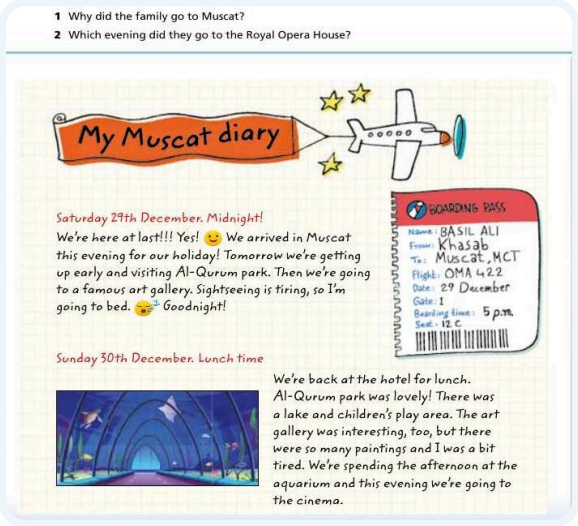

I told him the rule: am / is / are + verb-ing + a future time word, like tonight, tomorrow, next week, on Saturday, this evening.

Dad smiled. "OK, teacher. We're not going to the safari park or the theme park this time. But next year, inshallah, we're going to both!"

3rd January

Tomorrow we're flying home to Khasab. I'm a little sad. I liked the art gallery, the aquarium and the museum. I didn't go to the ice rink, but Mona says, "Next time!"

I'm closing my diary now. Goodnight, Muscat!

Lesson 1-4 · Culture, project and English in action: buying tickets

Four Tickets to the Fort

Real-life story Unit 1: Entertainment

👥 Hamad and his family on a National Day visit to a fort

It was National Day. Hamad and his family drove to an old fort in the mountains. There was a big poster at the gate:

> Al Haboot Tonight! A traditional Omani performance • Place: the fort square • Time: 7 p.m. • Tickets: adult 7 OMR, child 4 OMR

"Dad, can I buy the tickets?" asked Hamad. "We're learning how in English class!"

At the ticket office

Hamad walked to the window. First he wanted to say, "Give me four tickets." Then he remembered his teacher's words: be polite.

> Good afternoon. Can I have four tickets, please?

> Of course. Adults or children?

> One adult and three children, please.

The seller wrote the numbers. "One adult is 7 rials. Three children are 3 × 4 = 12 rials. So 7 + 12 = 19 rials."

> Do you want to have a guide? asked the seller. A guide gives you information about the fort and its history.

Hamad looked at his dad. Dad nodded.

> Yes, please. How much is it?

> The guide is 10 rials. That's 29 rials in total.

> Here you are.

> Thank you. Here are your tickets. Enjoy the fort!

"Well done!" said Dad. "And you said How much, not How many!"

> 💡 Polite phrases: Can I have … please? One adult and three children, please. How much is …? Here you are. That's … in total. Here are your tickets.

The guide

The guide was a kind man called Mr Salim. He told them about the fort and the old towers. Then he said, "Tonight you can watch Al Haboot. It is a traditional Omani performance. It is popular in the mountains and in Dhofar. The performers say a poem and move together. They often carry swords and jump. You can watch it on national days and at celebrations."

At 7 o'clock, the audience sat around the square. The men stood in two lines, said a poem and jumped together. Hamad's little sister clapped and clapped.

Performers around the world

On the drive home, Hamad read his English book. "Dad, there is a big circus from Canada called Cirque du Soleil. It started in 1984. It travels all over the world with fantastic costumes and make-up."

"Make-up for performers is very old," said Mom.

"Yes! Look at this fact: performers have used make-up for about 2,500 years!"

The project

The next week, Hamad's group made a poster for a performance, like the one at the fort. They found out about Al Haboot and planned their own school version. They used photos, interesting facts, the place, the date and the time. They put the most important information in big letters, used bullet points (•) and exclamation marks (!).

When Hamad presented the poster, he looked at his audience, not at the floor.

The weak sound

Before the class ended, the teacher wrote some words on the board: performer, designer, doctor, actor, operator.

"Listen," she said. "The ending is weak. It sounds like /ə/."

Hamad said them slowly: "per-FOR-mə, de-SIGN-ə, DOC-tə." Then he smiled. "Next time I buy tickets, I'll ask for a guide, and I'll say thank you to the ticket sell-ə!"

Lesson 1-5 · Literacy: Reading and writing adverts

The Advert That Nobody Read

School story Unit 1: Entertainment

👥 Yousef and Maryam, who must write an advert for the school fair

Ms Amal gave Yousef and Maryam a job. "Next week is the school fair. Please write an advert for our new climbing area."

Yousef wrote fast. After ten minutes he showed his paper. It was one very long paragraph: "Our school has a new climbing area and it is very nice and you can climb on it and there are some ropes and you can come on Thursday or maybe Friday and..."

Maryam yawned. "Yousef, nobody will read this. It's too long!"

A real advert

Ms Amal gave them a real advert. "Read this quickly first. Find the main information."

Treetops Adventure Playground – Hours of fun for all the family!

- Fly on our zip wires high above the ground!
- Try the high ropes or the low ropes!
- Climb our 15-metre climbing wall!
- Jump on the trampolines!
- Wear a helmet and a harness to stay safe.
- Children aged six or under play in the Tiny-Tots Playground.
- NEW: the Treetops Maze! Find your way through the tunnels!

Special offer: 2 tickets for the price of 1!

"How high is the climbing wall?" asked Ms Amal.

"15 metres!" said Maryam.

"Who can play in the Tiny-Tots Playground?"

"Children aged six or under," said Yousef.

What makes a good advert?

Ms Amal wrote on the board:

💡 A good advert gives the important information, has a good design with big and small letters and colours, uses bullet points (•) and a logo, has a slogan, and includes special offers.

"What is a slogan?" asked Yousef.

"A short, catchy sentence about the place. Like: Hours of fun for all the family!"

"And look at the language," said Maryam. "Exciting verbs: ride, climb, jump, visit, watch. And exciting adjectives: amazing, exciting, the biggest, the most dangerous!"

Practice

Ms Amal said, "Write a slogan for an aquarium."

Maryam thought, then said, "See the sea in the city!"

"Now turn this into a bullet point: You can walk through a glass tunnel."

Yousef wrote: "• Walk through the glass tunnel!"

"Perfect. Short and exciting."

The new advert

Yousef and Maryam worked together. They drew a logo: a small mountain with a smiling face. They used big letters for the name and small letters for the details. And this time they didn't forget how to buy tickets.

CLIMB HIGH! – Reach the top, then reach for more!

• Climb our amazing 6-metre wall!

• Wear a harness and a helmet. Our teachers help you!

Lesson 1-6 · Over to you, exam practice and graded readers

The Camera and the Dream

Two short stories | Unit 1: Entertainment

👥 Faisal and Hazim on a school trip; Samar and Basma at the school show

Ms Amal held up two small books. "These are graded readers. They are stories at our level. Before you read, look at the title and the pictures and guess." The class guessed, and then they read.

Story one: The Entertainment Tour

Faisal and Hazim went on a school trip with Mr Talal. At ten o'clock they met a guide at the Science Museum. The guide showed them a big picture of a galaxy. "Our galaxy has billions of stars," she said. Then they saw a real hot-air balloon. Hazim took photos with his new camera.

At one o'clock they visited an art gallery. There was a big sculpture of a horse. After that, they went to the gift shop. Hazim bought a pen and put his camera on the table to pay.

At four o'clock they caught the bus back. Suddenly Hazim shouted, "My camera! I can't find my camera!"

Faisal looked at him. "Where did you have it last?"

Hazim thought... "The gift shop!" Mr Talal phoned the shop, and the camera was there, safe on the table.

💡 Look at the pictures: Hazim left his camera at the gift shop, not on the bus.

Story two: The School Show

Samar and Basma watched the school show. It was two hours long, and it was wonderful. After the show, a teacher said, "Would you like to go backstage?"

Backstage, they met a performer first. "I have wanted to perform for many years," she said. Then they met a costume designer. "I have wanted to design costumes since I was small."

Next, they met a make-up artist. She was putting colours in a big box. Basma's eyes were shining.

"What's your dream?" asked the make-up artist.

"My dream is to become a make-up artist for shows," said Basma.

Over to you!

After reading, Ms Amal said, "Now write a comment for the WOW! Magazine. Say what you liked and what you would change."

Faisal wrote: "I liked The Entertainment Tour because the galaxy was cool. I would change the end: Hazim should keep his camera in his bag!"

Huda wrote: "I liked The School Show. I want to go backstage one day."

Exam practice

"Now, some exam practice," said Ms Amal. "In the A2 Flyers listening test, listen to the dialogue very carefully. People sometimes talk about more than one place." She played a recording. A boy said, "We went to the museum… no, sorry, first we went to the gallery."

"Be careful!" laughed Faisal.

"And in reading," said Ms Amal, "read all the answers before you choose. Only one is possible."

Then she asked:

> How long was the school show?

> Two hours.

> What time did the boys visit the art gallery?

> At one o'clock.

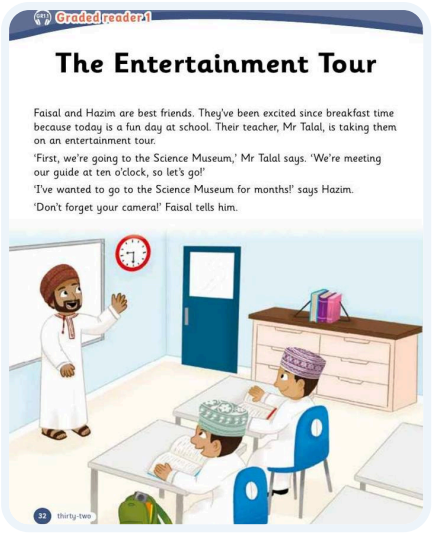

> Where did the boys meet their guide?

> At the Science Museum.

> Who did the girls meet first backstage?

> A performer.

Ms Amal closed the book. "Great. Unit 1 is finished. And now I know two dreams in this class: a camera that never gets lost, and a future make-up artist!"

'First, we're going to the Science Museum,' Mr Talal says. 'We're meeting our guide at ten o'clock, so let's go!'

'I've wanted to go to the Science Museum for months!' says Hazim.

'Don't forget your camera!' Faisal tells him.

Lesson 2-1 · Animal body parts

The Great Animal Quiz

Quiz show Unit 2: Awesome animals

👥 Quiz master Bayan, and two teams: the Eagles and the Turtles

The school hall was ready for the WOW! Animal Quiz. Bayan stood in the middle with a microphone. "Welcome! Two teams, four questions. Listen to the clues and guess the animal. But first, let's warm up with body parts!"

She showed pictures on the big screen, one by one.

"A beak: birds like eagles, ducks and parrots have one. A hump: camels have one, and Arabian camels have only one hump! Whiskers: long hairs near the mouth. Antennae: insects like bees and grasshoppers use them to smell and feel. Spines: sharp, like on a hedgehog. Scales: fish, snakes, crocodiles and lizards have them."

"Next: a fin helps a fish swim. Paws are soft animal feet, and claws are sharp nails. Flippers are for swimming. Seals and turtles have them. Horns: the oryx and goats have them. And a tongue, of course!"

💡 A fish has fins, not flippers. Seals and turtles have flippers. One antenna, two antennae.

Question 1

"Team Eagles. Listen: It's a big animal, about two metres high. It lives in the desert and it can go for days without water."

Khalid smiled. "Easy! It has a hump. It's a camel!"

"Correct! One point."

Question 2

"Team Turtles: These animals have huge eyes and long whiskers. They have flippers, and they can stay under water for two hours."

"Is it a fish?" whispered Salma.

"No," said her friend Sara. "A fish has fins, not flippers. And it has whiskers... They're seals!"

"Correct!"

Question 3

"Eagles: You can see these animals in the pond. They have a beak and some of them have beautiful green heads."

Khalid shouted, "Parrots!"

"Parrots don't swim in ponds!" laughed the audience.

His friend Majid said quickly, "Ducks!"

"Correct!"

Question 4

"Last question, Turtles. They're very small and very important for plants. They have six legs, a striped body, four wings, five eyes and two antennae."

"Five eyes?" said Sara. "Wow!"

"Six legs and antennae, so it's an insect," said Salma. "Striped, and important for flowers... bees!"

"Correct! It's a draw!"

The final round

"Now each team describes an animal, and the other team guesses," said Bayan. "Use: It has ... It can ... It lives in ..."

The Turtles said: "It has spines and small paws. It can curl up."

"It's a hedgehog!" said the Eagles.

The Eagles said: "It has scales and a long tongue. It lives in the desert. It can run fast."

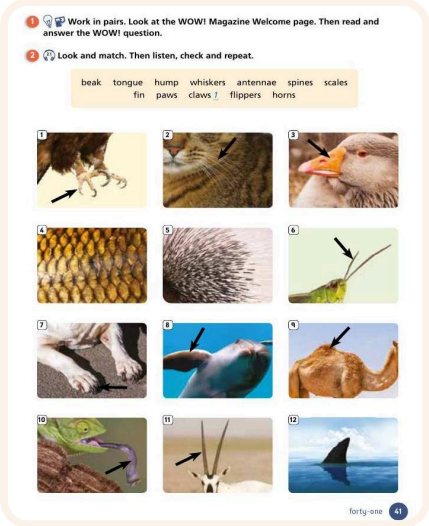

"A lizard!" said the Turtles.

Then a small boy in the audience put up his hand. "My camel has two humps!"

Bayan smiled. "In Oman? No. Arabian camels have one hump. Two humps is a different camel, from Asia."

At the end, Bayan gave a tip: "To remember the words, group them by animal type: birds have beaks and claws, fish have fins and scales, and insects have antennae."

Everyone clapped, and the hedgehog poster on the wall seemed to smile.

Lesson 2-2 · Team Talk: may, might, could, can't, must

Something in the Leaves

Mystery Unit 2: Awesome animals

👥 Emily, Bayan and Emily's cousin Nawal on a walk in the forest

Emily, Bayan and Nawal were walking in a forest near Emily's grandmother's house. The trees were tall and the leaves on the ground were brown and yellow. Suddenly Nawal stopped. "Shh! Listen! Something is moving in the leaves!"

The three girls stood still. The leaves moved again.

Guessing

"What is it?" whispered Nawal. "It might be a bear!"

"It can't be a bear," said Emily. "Bears don't live here. I'm 100% sure."

"It could be a bird," said Bayan. "Listen, I can hear birds."

Nawal took a step back. "Or it may be a snake!"

Emily bent down and looked. "It can't be a snake. It doesn't have scales. I can see something brown and round."

"Maybe it's a rabbit," said Bayan. "It might be a rabbit."

The answer

Then a little nose came out of the leaves. Then two small black eyes. Then lots of sharp spines!

"It has spines and small paws," said Emily. "So it must be a hedgehog!"

"Wow!" said Nawal. "It's so cute!"

She put out her hand to touch it.

"Watch out!" said Bayan. "Don't touch it. It may be scared. Look, it's curling up into a ball."

How sure are you?

On the way home, Bayan explained the modals of deduction. "We use them when we guess. A guess using facts is a deduction."

💡 100% sure it's true → must. Maybe → may / might / could. 100% sure it's not true → can't.

"So when you saw the spines, you were sure," said Nawal. "It must be a hedgehog."

"Yes. And we always give a reason: It can't be a bear because bears don't live here."

Nawal's mistakes

At Grandmother's house, Nawal wrote in her notebook: "It must to be a hedgehog."

"No to," said Emily. "Modal + be: It must be a hedgehog."

Then she wrote: "It musts be scared."

"No -s after modals!" laughed Bayan. "It must be scared."

Then she wrote: "It mustn't be a bear."

"For guessing, we use can't," said Emily. "It can't be a bear."

"Oh! And with have?" asked Nawal.

"Same rule: modal + have. It could have fur. It can't have scales."

A new guess

That night, the girls heard a noise in the garden. Nawal smiled. "It might be a cat... It could be the wind..." She looked out of the window and saw a small round shadow with spines.

"No," she said. "It must be our friend the hedgehog!"

Grammar table: may, might, could, can't, must

📖 Words from the story

must لا بد (متأكد أنه صحيح)	can't مستحيل (متأكد أنه غير صحيح)
might ربما	may قد / ربما
could من الممكن	deduction استنتاج
hedgehog قنفذ	Watch out! انتبه!

🌟 What did I learn?

- ✔ We use modals of deduction to guess from facts
- ✔ must = we are sure it's true, can't = we are sure it's not true, may / might / could = we are not sure
- ✔ It can't be a bear because bears don't live here, and it can't be a snake because it doesn't have scales
- ✔ It has spines, so it must be a hedgehog
- ✔ Form: modal + be (It might be a bird) or modal + have (It could have fur)
- ✔ No -s and no to after modals: It must be, not It musts be or It must to be
- ✔ For deduction say can't, not mustn't
- ✔ Expressions: It's so cute! Watch out! Wow!

🤔 Little questions

1. Which modal means you are 100% sure it's true?
   Answer: must
2. Which modal means you are sure it's NOT true?
   Answer: can't
3. Why can't it be a bear?
   Answer: Bears don't live there.
4. What did they find?
   Answer: a hedgehog
5. Correct it: It must to be a hedgehog.
   Answer: It must be a hedgehog.

Lesson 2-3 · Book Club: A folk tale and the first conditional

The Animal Who Joined Nobody

Folk tale retold Unit 2: Awesome animals

👥 Grandmother Zuwaina tells a bedtime story to Yaqoob and Shamsa

"Grandma, tell us a story," said Shamsa.

Grandmother Zuwaina smiled. "Tonight I'll tell you a folk tale. A folk tale is an old story that teaches important things. This one is from far away, and it's called The Best Animals on Earth."

The big fight

"Long, long ago, the animals were fighting to be the best group on Earth.

The lions roared. We have fur and we can run. We are the best!

The fish jumped out of the water. We can swim and dive. We are the best!

The birds flew down from the trees. We have beaks and we lay eggs. We are the best!"

"Who won?" asked Yaqoob.

"Wait," said Grandmother. "Nobody won. They argued all day."

The strange animal

"Then a very strange animal came out of the river. She had fur, like the lions. She could swim, like the fish. She had a beak, like the birds, and she laid eggs! It was the platypus."

"A platypus? Is it real?" asked Shamsa.

"Yes, it lives in Australia. Now listen. Every group wanted her.

The lions said: If you come with us, you'll be with the best animals!

The fish said: If you don't join us, we'll be angry!

The birds said: If you join us, we'll teach you to fly!"

The clever answer

"The platypus thought for a long time. Then she said:

If I join the lions, the birds won't be happy. If I don't join the fish, they'll be angry. If you wait, I will decide tomorrow.

The next day, she said: I won't join any group. I am special in my own way."

Grandmother closed her eyes. "And that is the lesson: everyone is special in a different way."

> 💡 First conditional: If + present simple, will / won't + verb. We use it for something that might happen in the future.

The animal verbs game

Yaqoob wasn't sleepy. "Grandma, let's play a game! I say an animal, and you say what it does."

"Lions?"

"Lions roar and fight."

"Bees?"

"Bees sting."

"Hedgehogs?"

"When they're scared, they curl up."

"Rabbits?"

"They dig and hide. And when they see a fox, they run away."

"Birds?"

"Birds fly away and lay eggs. And all living things one day die, so we take care of them while they live."

Shamsa's sentences

Shamsa took her English notebook. "Grandma, I have homework. If it will rain, we won't go to the park."

"No will in the if-part, habibti," said Grandmother. "If it rains, we won't go to the park."

Shamsa wrote another: "If we plant more flowers, more bees will come."

"Perfect! And you can swap the halves: More bees will come if we plant more flowers."

Yaqoob yawned at last. "If you tell me another story tomorrow, I'll go to sleep now."

Grandmother laughed. "If you go to sleep now, I'll tell you two!"

THE BEST ANIMALS ON EARTH

Long ago, all the animals on Earth were fighting. They all wanted to be the best group of animals on Earth.
'We are the most important animals,' roared the lions. 'We have fur and we can run.'
'What about the platypus?' someone asked.
'She has fur and she's a good runner.'
'True!' said the lion. He found the platypus, who was hiding, and said, 'Please join our group. If you come with us, you'll be with the best animals.'

'I'm not sure,' said the platypus. 'I can't bite like you – I don't have teeth. But if you come and see me tomorrow, I'll tell you.'
Then the fish said, 'We are the most interesting animals. We can swim and dive.'
'The platypus is a swimmer, too,' someone said.
'Oh, yes,' said the fish. Then the fish said to the platypus, 'If you join us, you'll be in the best group.'

The White Animal of the Desert

Travel story Unit 2: Awesome animals

👥 Majid and his cousin Rahma visit an oryx reserve in Al Wusta

Early in the morning, Majid and his cousin Rahma drove with Majid's father into the big desert of Al Wusta. "Today you'll see Oman's national animal," said his father.

"I'm crazy about animals!" said Rahma. "Which one is it?"

"Wait and see."

The oryx

After an hour, they saw them: a group of white animals with very long, straight horns. "The Arabian oryx!" said Majid.

A ranger came to meet them. "The oryx is the national animal of Oman. It has white fur and long horns. Oryx eat grass and leaves and walk long distances in the desert. They don't drink much. They get water from their food."

"Are there many?" asked Rahma.

"Now, yes. But in the 1970s there were no more oryx in the wild. People worked hard to save them. Now you can find them in Oman, Jordan, the UAE and Saudi Arabia."

Likes and dislikes

On the way back, Rahma asked, "Majid, do you like spiders?"

"No, I don't. I can't stand them!" said Majid.

"And sharks?"

"Yes! I'm crazy about sharks. I find them really interesting."

"I quite like camels," said Rahma. "I don't mind snakes, but I'm not keen on scorpions. And I don't like mosquitoes at all!"

Majid's father laughed. "From love to hate, you used every phrase!"

💡 Strong like: I'm crazy about … / I find … really interesting. Like: I quite like … Neutral: I don't mind … Dislike: I'm not keen on … Strong dislike: I don't like … at all. / I can't stand …

Rahma made a mistake once: "I'm crazy for horses." Majid corrected her: "Crazy about!" And she said, "I don't mind to watch them." "Watching! After like, love, don't mind and can't stand, we use a noun or verb-ing: I can't stand picking them up."

Two more national animals

At home, the cousins read about other national animals for their class project.

"Look," said Rahma, "ring-tailed lemurs from Madagascar. They have long striped tails, and they're good at climbing."

"And here is the Komodo dragon from Indonesia," said Majid. "It's the largest lizard in the world. It has venom in its mouth."

"I can't stand that one," said Rahma.

The project

Their teacher asked each group to make a world map of national animals. "Choose a continent and find the national animals of two countries. Write notes and add pictures. And use but to show contrast."

Rahma wrote under a picture of a small fox: "They are small, but they have very big ears!"

Majid checked country names in a dictionary to say them correctly.

Saying the words

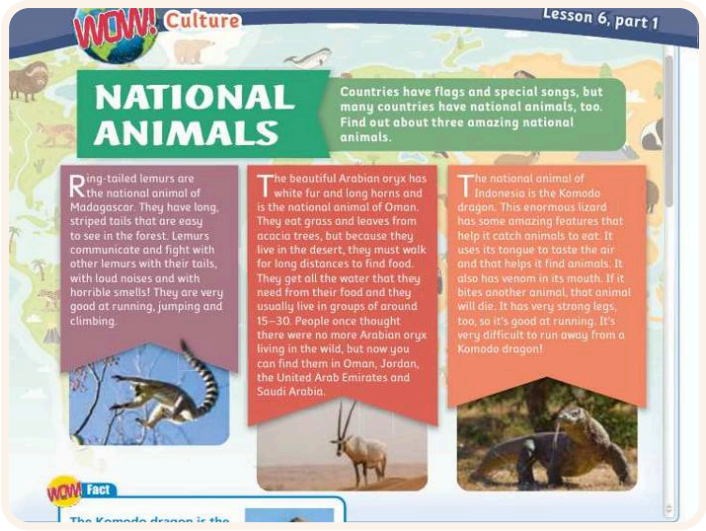

Before the presentation, the teacher practised the stressed syllables with them:

DOL-phin, gi-RAFFE, JEL-ly-fish, go-RIL-la, kan-ga-ROO, AL-li-ga-tor, ko-A-la, EL-e-phant.

Majid said "gi-RAFFE" very loudly, and everybody laughed.

At the end, the teacher asked the class: "What is the national animal of Oman?"

"The Arabian oryx!" they all said, and Rahma added quietly, "And I'm crazy about it."

Lesson 2-5 · Literacy: Reading and writing an information text

Three Strange Animals for the Magazine

School story | Unit 2: Awesome animals

👥 Frank and a Grade 7 student, Ahmed, writing for the WOW! Magazine

Frank sent Ahmed a message: "Hi Ahmed! Can you write an information text for the magazine? The topic is Strange Animals. I'm sending you three fact files."

Ahmed opened the files. A fact file is a short list of facts under headings: name, type, home, food, size, body, family and interesting facts.

Fact file 1

Giant prickly stick insect • Type: invertebrate, insect • Home: forests in Australia • Size: up to 20 cm • Food: leaves • Family: lays eggs • Interesting fact: hides, looks like dead leaves

"An invertebrate?" thought Ahmed. He checked his science book: Vertebrates have a backbone: fish, reptiles, birds and mammals. Invertebrates don't, like insects.

Fact file 2

Mata mata turtle • Type: vertebrate, reptile • Home: South America • Size: up to 45 cm, 15 kg • Body: very long neck and nose • Interesting fact: hides in the water, uses its nose to breathe

Fact file 3

Hammerhead shark • Type: fish • Home: warm oceans • Size: up to 6 m, 450 kg • Body: head like a hammer • Food: stingrays • Interesting fact: uses a sixth sense to find them in the sand

The first try

Ahmed wrote quickly:

"Stick insect. Australia. 20 cm. Leaves. Its an insect."

He sent it to Frank. Frank replied: "Ahmed, this is a fact file again! An information text gives facts in full sentences. And it's not Its an insect. It's It's!"

Frank's tips

Frank sent a list:

> 💡 How to write an information text: use all the information from the fact file; write full sentences with no abbreviations; add adjectives to make it interesting; order the text correctly (it may not be the same order as the fact file).

Then he added: "Be careful with it's and its. It's = it is or it has: It's a fish. Its = possession: The turtle uses its nose."

The second try

Ahmed started again. He read the headings to find information quickly. Then he wrote:

The giant prickly stick insect is a strange invertebrate. It's an insect from the forests of Australia. It can grow up to 20 centimetres long. It eats leaves from some trees, and it lays eggs. It's very good at hiding because its body looks like dead leaves!

The mata mata turtle is a vertebrate reptile from South America. It's up to 45 centimetres long and it weighs about 15 kilograms. It has a very long neck and a funny long nose. It hides in the water and uses its long nose to breathe.

The hammerhead shark is an amazing fish. It lives in warm oceans and it can be up to 6 metres long and 450 kilograms! Its head looks like a hammer. It eats stingrays, and it uses a special sixth sense to find them in the sand.

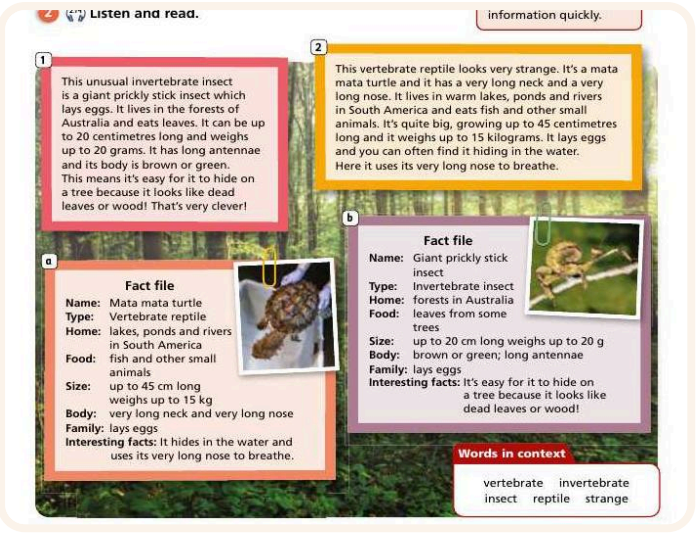

He checked: no abbreviations, so "cm" became "centimetres" and "kg" became "kilograms". He added adjectives: strange, funny, amazing.

Published!

Frank replied with three stars. "Perfect! We'll put it in the magazine next week."

Then he asked a quiz question: "Is a stick insect a vertebrate or an invertebrate?"

Ahmed typed: "An invertebrate. It's an insect, and its body has no backbone!"

The Eagle, the Gazelles and the Scorpion

Adventure · Unit 2: Awesome animals

👥 Khalid and his family on a desert safari

Khalid's family climbed onto the back of a big truck. A guide with a big smile sat in front. "Welcome to the desert safari! Hold on!"

The truck drove over the orange sand dunes, up and down, up and down. Khalid's little sister laughed and screamed at the same time.

The eagle

The guide stopped the truck. "If you look up, you'll see an eagle."

Khalid looked up. A big bird was flying in circles. "It has a large beak and sharp claws," said the guide. "Watch!"

The eagle flew up high, then dived down very fast to the ground and caught a rabbit. Then it flew away.

"Wow!" said Khalid. "That was fast!"

The gazelles

Near the sand dunes, they saw a group of gazelles. They had long horns and thin legs. "If you're quiet, they'll stay," whispered the guide. Everybody was quiet, and the gazelles ate the dry grass.

The scorpion

Then Khalid saw something small and yellow next to his shoe. "What's that?"

"Don't move!" said the guide. "It's a scorpion. If it stings you, you'll need to go to hospital!"

Khalid stepped back very slowly. The family climbed into the truck and left quickly, because a scorpion can sting.

💡 Use the first conditional to give warnings: If it stings you, you'll need to go to hospital.

Over to you!

At school, Khalid wrote a comment for the WOW! Magazine about his safari. Then he read other readers' comments.

"A goldfinch has a red face and yellow and black wings. It's my favourite bird!" – Sara

"Kiwi birds from New Zealand have long beaks, but they can't fly." – Badr

"The platypus is a mammal, but it lays eggs!" – Huda

"In Australia there are camels, the echidna and the emu, a bird that cannot fly." – Lina

Khalid laughed. "Two birds that can't fly: the kiwi and the emu!"

Exam practice

Ms Amal said, "Now, A2 Key practice. In reading, if you think you have the correct answer, look at the other two answers again to check they are wrong."

"And in speaking," she said, "don't worry about mistakes. It's more important to communicate."

She asked Khalid, "What's your favourite animal? What does it look like?"

"My favourite animal is the eagle. It has a large beak and sharp claws. It can fly high and dive very fast."

Then she asked the class:

> How did Khalid's family travel on the safari?

> On the back of a big truck.

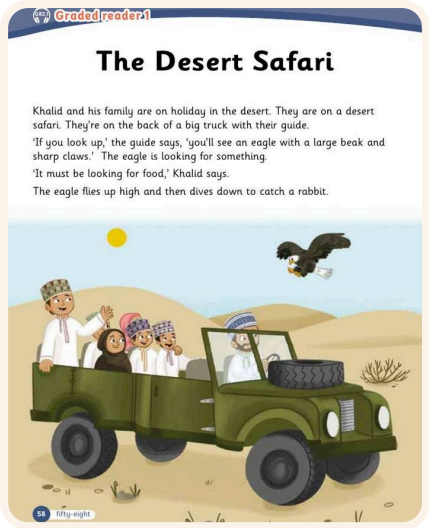

> What did the eagle catch?

> A rabbit.

> Why did they leave quickly?

> Because a scorpion can sting.

"Excellent," said Ms Amal. "If you keep reading like this, you'll be ready for any exam!"

The Suitcase That Was Too Full

Funny story · Unit 3: Travel

👥 Talal (12) packing for his first trip to Malaysia, and his older sister Badriya

Talal was going to Malaysia with his family. It was his first trip to another country, and he was very excited. He opened his big suitcase and started to put things inside... everything!

Two hours later, his sister Badriya came in. The suitcase was so full that Talal was sitting on it. "Talal! What's in there?"

Opening the suitcase

Badriya opened it. Out came: four footballs, nine T-shirts, a big heavy guidebook, his school bag, a toy car... and a toothbrush next to his comb.

"Why is your toothbrush here?" she asked.

"For my hair!" said Talal.

Badriya laughed. "A toothbrush is for teeth! For hair you need a hairbrush."

Frank's travel tips

Badriya opened her laptop. "Read this. It's Frank's travel blog. He travels a lot."

Frank's travel tips

- Check the date on your passport. Children need a new one every five years, parents every ten years.
- Use a rucksack or a suitcase on wheels. Put your name and address on it.
- Take light clothes and flip-flops for sunny days, and a raincoat or an umbrella for rainy days.
- Take a washbag with your toothbrush, toothpaste, shampoo and soap.
- Don't take heavy guidebooks. They're heavy, and you can download apps!
- Remember your charger, and take a pillow if you travel at night.

"Malaysia is hot, but it rains a lot," said Badriya. "So you need flip-flops and a raincoat."

The packing list

Badriya gave Talal a paper. "Make a packing list before a trip, and tick each thing." They grouped the words together:

> 💡 Things you wear: raincoat, flip-flops. In your washbag: toothbrush, soap, shampoo. For a beach holiday: flip-flops, sun cream, umbrella. Documents: passport, ticket.

Talal wrote and ticked:

✓ passport ✓ ticket ✓ light clothes ✓ flip-flops ✓ raincoat ✓ umbrella ✓ washbag (toothbrush, soap, shampoo) ✓ medicine for his stomach ✓ charger ✓ small pillow

"Look," said Badriya, "many travel words are two words together: tooth + brush, wash + bag, flip + flops, guide + book."

At the airport

At the airport, Talal's father asked, "Talal, do you have your passport?"

Talal checked his rucksack. "Yes! Last time I forgot my school bag… I always forget something. But not today!"

"We say I always forget, not I forget always," laughed Badriya.

On the plane, Talal's phone battery was empty. He smiled and took out his charger. Then he took out his small pillow, put it behind his head and slept for the whole night flight.

In Malaysia

In Kuala Lumpur, it suddenly started to rain. Everyone ran, but Talal opened his umbrella. "Frank was right!"

That night, he wrote a comment on Frank's blog: "Thank you, Frank! I took my charger, my pillow and my raincoat. I didn't take a heavy guidebook, I used an app. And my toothbrush is now in my washbag, not next to my comb!"

Plans and Promises for London

Dialogue story Unit 3: Travel

👥 Frank and Majid preparing for a trip to London

Frank and Majid sat on Frank's bed with a map of London. Tomorrow they were going to visit London with Frank's family.

"I've got a plan," said Frank. "I'm going to take a small rucksack. I'm going to put my camera, my wallet and some water in it."

"Good plan!" said Majid. "I didn't think about a bag... Good idea. I'll take a small bag, too."

Plan or decision now?

Frank's sister Lucy was listening from the door. "Majid, did you notice? Frank used going to, but you used will."

"Why?"

"Frank decided before we talked. It was his plan. So he said I'm going to take. You decided now, at the moment you were speaking. So you said I'll take."

💡 going to → a plan made before speaking. will ('ll) → a decision made at the moment of speaking, an offer or a promise.

The umbrella

Frank looked at the weather on his phone. "It's going to rain tomorrow. Do you have an umbrella?"

"Oh no. I don't have one," said Majid.

"Don't worry. I'll take one. We can share it."

"Thanks for your help."

"Of course!"

The passport

Then Frank's mother called from the kitchen. "Majid, where's your passport?"

Majid's face went white. "My passport! I forgot about my passport. It's at my uncle's house!"

"It's only ten minutes away," said Frank.

"OK. I'll go home and look for that now." He jumped up and ran to the door. "I'll be back in half an hour!"

Lucy smiled. "Another quick decision. I'll go!"

Back with the passport

When Majid came back, he was holding his passport and a phone that was ringing.

"I'll answer it!" said Frank, and he took it. "Hello? Yes, he's here."

It was Majid's mother. Majid talked to her and then said, "My mum asked what we're going to do in London."

Frank opened his notebook. "We 're going to visit a big museum. We 're going to ride on a red bus. We aren't going to take a guidebook because we have an app."

"And I won't need my big coat," said Majid. "It's cold, but not too cold."

Majid's notes

That night, Majid wrote in his diary and made two mistakes. Frank checked them.

"I going to take a bag." → "You need be: I 'm going to take a bag."

"I will to take it." → "No to after will: I 'll take it."

"Ask yourself," said Frank. "Did I decide before? → going to. Did I decide now? → will."

Majid closed his diary. "OK. Here's a promise: I 'll never forget my passport again."

"And here's a plan," said Frank. "We're going to sleep now. The plane leaves at six!"

Lesson 3-3 · Book Club: A science fiction story and the present simple for the future

Are We Nearly There Yet?

Science fiction | Unit 3: Travel

👥 Issa (12) and his family, in the year 2090

It was the year 2090, and it was the school holidays. Issa was lying on the sofa. "I'm bored," he said. "There's nothing to do."

Dad smiled. "Then pack your suitcase. We're going to go on an exciting journey tomorrow."

"Where?"

"It's a secret!"

To the launch pad

The next morning, the family caught a train. "The train leaves in 15 minutes," said Mum, looking at the timetable. Issa noticed: she used the present simple for the future. We use it for timetables and fixed plans.

The train arrived at a huge place with a tall white rocket. It was a launch pad!

"We're going to the Moon!" shouted Issa.

Take off!

They got on the rocket. A voice said: "Please take your seats. The flight leaves in ten minutes."

Issa's little sister asked, "What time does the flight land?"

"It lands at 6 o'clock," said Dad.

Then: 5... 4... 3... 2... 1... The rocket took off! Issa felt heavy, then light. After an hour, he asked: "Are we nearly there yet?"

"Not yet!" laughed Mum.

💡 Present simple for timetables: The train leaves in 15 minutes. The flight lands at 6 o'clock. What time does the flight land?

On the Moon

At last, the rocket landed. The family got off and travelled by Moon train to a space hotel. From the hotel window, Issa could see the Earth, blue and white. And far away, a small red planet: Mars!

The next day, they explored the Moon. They put on space suits and went on a Moon walk. "The Moon walk was interesting," Issa said later, "but the space suits were really uncomfortable!" Jumping was fun, but his nose was itchy, and he couldn't touch it in his helmet.

Opposites

On the last night, Issa wrote some travel words in his diary:

take off ↔ land • get on ↔ get off • leave ↔ arrive

And the journey in order: pack your suitcase → catch a bus → get on the plane (or rocket!) → take a seat → it takes off … and lands → arrive, get off and explore.

Going home

On the way back, Issa's sister wrote: "The flight land at 6."

"With he, she or it, timetable verbs need -s," said Issa. "The flight lands at 6."

She wrote: "What time the bus leaves?"

"Question: What time does the bus leave?"

The rocket landed on Earth. Issa looked at his house, his garden and his old bike.

"So, Issa," said Dad, "what do you want to do tomorrow? Another trip to Mars?"

Issa smiled. "No, thank you. Tomorrow I want to ride my bike in the park!"

This kind of story, in the future and in a world different from ours, is called science fiction.

Are we nearly there yet?

I was bored. 'There's nothing to do in the holidays,' I said.
'Ride your bike, Issa, or go to the park,' said Mum.
'But I want to do something exciting,' I said.
'We're going to go on an exciting journey tomorrow,' said Dad. 'Go and pack your suitcase.'

The next morning we caught a train to the launch pad and got on the rocket.
'Please take your seats. The flight leaves in ten minutes.'
There was a loud noise and suddenly we took off up into the sky. I looked out of my window and watched the Earth getting smaller and smaller.

Two Trains, Two Letters

Letters · Unit 3: Travel

👥 Rayan from Sohar, and his e-pal Ivan from Russia

Letter 1: from Rayan

Dear Ivan,

I have great news! Next month my family is going to do Umrah, and I'm really looking forward to it! We're flying to Jeddah. Then we're taking a very famous train: the Haramain High-Speed railway.

It's in Saudi Arabia, and it runs between the two holy cities of Makkah and Madinah. It also stops at Jeddah. It travels at 300 km an hour! The route is 450 kilometres long. It opened in 2018, it has more than 50 bridges, and it is designed to run in temperatures of 50°C. Imagine! In summer, it's as hot as an oven there.

I can't wait to see it! I'm a bit worried about the long flight, but I'm excited about the train.

Your friend,

Rayan

Letter 2: from Ivan

Dear Rayan,

What a fast train! My country has a famous train too, but it isn't fast. It's long! It's the Trans-Siberian railway, from Moscow to Vladivostok. It's the longest railway in the world: more than 9,000 km!

The journey takes about a week. You get on in Europe and get off in Asia! You sleep on the train, and you pass Lake Baikal, the deepest lake in the world.

Next summer, my family is going on it. I'm looking forward to seeing the lake. But I'm not looking forward to the long journey. A week on a train! I'm taking many books.

Your friend,

Ivan

💡 Saying how you feel about the future: I'm (really) looking forward to … / I can't wait for … / I can't wait to … / I'm excited about … / I'm not looking forward to … / I'm worried about …

Letter 3: from Rayan

Dear Ivan,

My English teacher read your letter and corrected my mistakes. I wrote "I'm looking forward to see you" in my notebook. She said, "After looking forward to, use a noun or -ing: I'm looking forward to seeing you." And I wrote "I'm excited for the train." She said, "Excited about!"

Now we're doing a project: a railway map. Each group chooses a continent and a famous railway. We find out how long the route is (in km and hours), where it starts and finishes, and what we can see on the way. Then we draw the route. We can use the abbreviation km/h for kilometres an hour.

My group chose your railway! We drew the line from Moscow to Vladivostok and a big blue Lake Baikal.

Rayan

Letter 4: from Rayan, after the Umrah

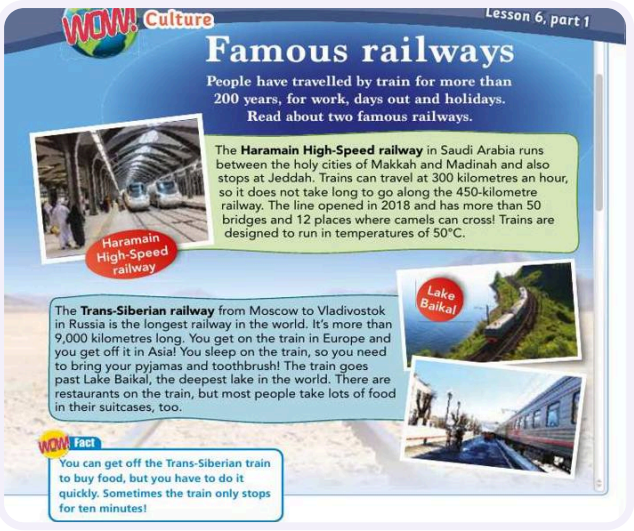

Dear Ivan,

We're back! The Haramain train was amazing. It was clean and quiet and so fast! The trip from Makkah to Madinah was only a few hours, not a whole day like the coach journey my grandfather took many years ago.

In class, we practised questions about trips, and our teacher told us to stress the question word: WHAT are you going to do? WHERE are you going? WHEN are you leaving?

So, WHEN are you going on the Trans-Siberian? I can't wait for your letter!

The Head Teacher's Helper

School story · Unit 3: Travel

👥 Muna, a Grade 7 student, helps the head teacher Mr Sultan write an email

Mr Sultan, the head teacher, called Muna to his office. "Muna, your English is very good. I'm writing an email to Grade 7 about the school trip to Bahla. Can you help me?"

Muna smiled. "Of course!"

The first draft

Mr Sultan showed her his first try:

> Hi students, trip to Bahla on Sunday, bring stuff, see you, Yours, Mr Sultan

Muna thought for a moment. "Mr Sultan, this is a formal email. But it starts with Hi, which is informal. And it ends with Yours, which is formal. It's mixed! Also, the subject box is empty."

How to write an email

Muna took a paper and wrote:

> 💡 How to write a formal email: write who the email is to at the top (To:); complete the subject box; start with Dear (name) and say why you are writing in the first paragraph; divide it into paragraphs (you can add headings); end with Yours, (name).

"And the language," she added. "Formal: Dear ..., We are now ready to send you information ..., We look forward to seeing you soon., Yours, Informal: Hi ..., Here's some information ..., See you soon ..., From ..."

Mr Sultan laughed. "You are a good teacher!"

The new email

Together they wrote:

> Dear students,

We are now ready to send you information about our school trip to Bahla.

Sunday

The express coach leaves at 4:30 p.m. Please arrive at school at 4 p.m. The hotel has a brand-new swimming pool. Dinner is at 7 p.m.

Monday

We are visiting Bahla Fort. It has been a UNESCO World Heritage site since 1987. After that, we are visiting the old souq.

What to bring

Please bring a wallet, some money, a sun hat and comfortable shoes.

Tuesday

The coach leaves at 9 a.m.

We look forward to seeing you soon.

Yours,

Mr Sultan, head teacher

"Using headings with days makes it easy to read," said Muna.

The trip

On Sunday, Muna and her classmates got on the express coach at 4:30. In Bahla, they swam in the brand-new pool. On Monday, they walked through the huge fort. Their guide said, "This fort is very old. That is why it is a World Heritage site."

Muna's friend Hanan was reading a sign and stopped at every word. "What does heritage mean? And battlements?"

"You don't need to look up every word in a dictionary," said Muna. "Not every word is important. Understand the main idea first."

Lucky

In the souq, Muna bought a small clay pot for her mother. On the way home, Mr Sultan sat next to her on the coach.

"Muna, thank you for your help with the email. Everyone came on time and brought sun hats!"

"We were lucky," said Muna. "The weather was perfect."

"Not just lucky. A clear email helps!" Then he smiled. "Next year, maybe you can write the email yourself, from beginning to Yours."

Subject: School trip to Bahla

Dear students,

We can now send you information about our school trip to Bahla. The trip is next Sunday (16th April). Please arrive at the school at 4 p.m. The roads are very busy then, so don't be late. The express coach leaves at 4.30 p.m. and we arrive at Bahla at 6.30 p.m.

Our hotel is near the famous Bahla fort. We're lucky because the hotel has a brand-new swimming pool. Remember to bring your swimsuit and your flip-flops, and you can swim before dinner. Dinner is at 7 p.m. every evening.

On Monday, we visit the famous Bahla fort, which has been a UNESCO World Heritage site since 1987. You need to bring a wallet, with some money to buy a sandwich and a drink. The weather is usually hot in Bahla. Bring your sunhat and light clothes. You must wear trainers or comfortable shoes because we're going to do a lot of walking.

We're going to look around the fort. You can see some wonderful views from the walls at the top. We're also going to look around the town and the souq. Bring enough money to buy a gift if you want.

On Tuesday, after breakfast, pack your suitcase and wait at the hotel entrance. The coach back to Muscat leaves at 9 a.m. and arrives at the school at about 11 a.m.

We're sure that you will have a lovely time in Bahla and look forward to seeing you soon.

Yours,

Mr Sultan, head teacher

Cows on the Track and a Friend in Row 12

Two short stories · Unit 3: Travel

👥 Brian and Jack on a train; Amani at the airport

Story one: The Game on the Train

Brian and Jack were going to Edinburgh by train with Mum and Dad. "The train leaves in five minutes," said Dad, "and it arrives at four o'clock."

Dad downloaded apps on his phone for the journey. Mum looked at the sky. "It's going to rain."

"Don't worry," said Jack. "I 'll wear my raincoat."

The train left. Jack took out his tablet... but it had no battery. "Oh no! I forgot my charger!"

Then suddenly the train stopped. The driver said: "Sorry, everybody. There are cows on the track!"

All the passengers were worried. A little girl started to cry. An old man looked at his watch again and again.

Brian had an idea. He took out a paper and a pen. "Let's play this game!" he said. "I think of an animal, and you ask yes or no questions."

Jack played, then the little girl, then the old man. Soon all the passengers were playing. Nobody was worried anymore. When the cows left and the train started again, everybody was a little sad... the game was so much fun!

Story two: A New Friend

Amani was at the airport. Her plane to Doha takes off in half an hour. She was a bit nervous because it was her first trip alone with her aunt.

At the gate, she met a girl with a pink rucksack. "Hi, I'm Muna. Where are you going?"

"To Doha. I'm visiting my cousins. And you?"

"Me too! I'm visiting my grandparents."

The flight attendant asked for their boarding passes. The girls looked at them. "Row 12! We're in the same row!"

On the plane, they listened to an audiobook together and talked all the way.

In Doha, Amani and her cousins visited a famous market. Amani bought a colourful bangle. And who did she see next to the bangle shop? Muna!

> 💡 Talk about journey plans with going to (plans), will (quick decisions) and the present simple (timetables): The plane takes off in half an hour.

Over to you!

The class wrote comments about journeys for the WOW! Magazine. Salim wrote: "I'm looking forward to my first train journey. I'll take a game, like Brian!"

Exam practice

"For A2 Key listening," said Ms Amal, "read all the words carefully first, so you know what words you are going to hear. For reading, look at each text before you read. Think: Where might I see a text like this?"

She showed a sign: Please take off your coat here.

"Where might you see it?" "At a museum!" said Muna. "So it means you can't wear your coat inside."

Then she asked:

> Where are Brian and Jack going? — Edinburgh.

> Why did the train stop? — Because there were cows on the track.

> Why couldn't Jack use his tablet? — It had no battery, and he forgot his charger.

> Who is Muna going to visit in Doha? — Her grandparents.

> What does Amani buy at the market? — A colourful bangle.

"Be careful," said Ms Amal. "Some students say Jack's tablet had lots of battery. Read again: it had no battery!"

Good Morning, Good Evening!

Video-call story · WOW! Learning Club 1

👥 Hiba in Muscat, her cousin Adam in New York, and their friend Chloe in Sydney

At seven o'clock in the evening, Hiba called her cousin Adam in New York on a video call. It was dark outside her window in Muscat.

"Good evening, Adam!"

Adam was eating cereal. "Good evening? It's 11 a.m. here! Good morning!"

Hiba laughed. "Why is the time different?"

Amazing Earth

Adam took a ball and a lamp. "Look. The lamp is the Sun, and the ball is the Earth. The Earth turns around every 24 hours. It's day on the side closest to the Sun, and night on the side furthest away. Muscat is on the dark side now, and New York is on the light side."

"So when it's 7 p.m. in Muscat, it's 11 a.m. in New York!"

"Exactly. And the Earth also goes around the Sun. It takes 365 days. That's one year. It gives us the seasons."

Seasons upside down

Then their friend Chloe joined the call from Sydney, Australia. She was wearing a T-shirt and a big sun hat.

"Chloe! Why are you dressed for the beach in December?" asked Adam.

"Because it's summer here!" said Chloe. "In Europe and America, summer is June, July and August. In Australia it's the opposite: summer is December, January and February."

💡 The Earth turns every 24 hours (day and night) and goes around the Sun in 365 days (one year and the seasons). The four seasons: spring, summer, autumn, winter.

Hiba wrote the months in her notebook: "january, february..."

"Capital letters!" said Adam. "Months always start with a capital letter: January, February, March, April, May, June, July, August, September, October, November, December."

Telling the time

Chloe looked at the clock behind her. "It's quarter past four in the morning... no, wait, I mean afternoon! I'm confused by all these times!"

Hiba drew four clocks:

4:00 It's four o'clock. 4:15 It's quarter past four. 4:30 It's half past four. 4:45 It's quarter to five.

"Quarter past is after the hour," said Hiba. "Quarter to is before the next hour. So 6:45 is quarter to seven."

"Not quarter past to five!" laughed Adam.

The Carroll diagram homework

"I have science homework," said Adam. "It's a Carroll diagram. It shows yes / no information in four boxes."

He showed it on the camera:

Box 1, needs light AND needs sound: theatre, cinema

Box 2, needs light, NO sound: art gallery

Box 3, NO light, needs sound: street parade (in the day)

Box 4, NO light, NO sound: park

"All machines need energy," said Adam. "Some make light, some make sound, some make heat and some make movement. A toaster makes heat. A food mixer makes movement."

"So a theatre needs sound and light," said Hiba. "An art gallery needs light, but it doesn't need sound."

"And a street parade in the day? It needs sound, but it doesn't need any light."

"A cinema needs sound and light. True or false?" asked Chloe.

"True!"

Goodnight, good morning

Hiba yawned. "It's half past nine here. I have to sleep."

"It's half past one here. Lunch time!" said Adam.

"And it's half past four in the morning... in summer!" said Chloe. "I'm going back to sleep too!"

"Goodnight, good afternoon and good morning!" they all said, and laughed.

2 Which months are in winter in Australia?

Amazing Earth

Why do we have day and night?

The Earth turns around every 24 hours, so different parts of the planet can see the Sun at different times. It's daytime on the side that is closest to the Sun. It's night on the side that is furthest away. This is why the time is different around the world. When it's 7 p.m. in Muscat, it's 11 a.m. in New York! 8 a.m. in London is 7 p.m. in New Zealand!

Why do we have seasons?

It takes 365 days for the Earth to go around the Sun. That's a year. It's summer in the countries that are closer to the Sun. It's winter in the countries that are further away. The calendar doesn't change around the world, but the seasons do. In Europe, there are four seasons: winter, spring, summer and autumn. June, July and August are in summer. December, January and February are in winter. Australia has the opposite seasons. So, when children are making snowmen in Europe, they're eating ice cream in Australia!

Did you know that time travel is possible?

It's true! You can experience the same day twice if you fly from New Zealand to Hawaii. For example, you can have 1st January in New Zealand. Then, if you get on a plane that takes off on 1st January, the plane will land in Hawaii on 31st December and you can experience 1st January again! You will need to pack a big suitcase. You won't need your flip-flops, but you will need your raincoat and umbrella! When it's summer in New Zealand, it's cold and rainy in Hawaii!
